At Setlog we like to think of value chains holistically. More than a decade ago we set out to develop groundbreaking software code for effective supply chain and vendor management. This became OSCA®, the smart hub integrating complex value chain processes from in- to outbound on one universal cloud-based platform.

OSCA® provides real-time access to crucial information at your finger tip: transparent and coherent. It's universal, uniting each clients' global interfaces on one smart platform. And it's adaptive to the dimension you need. Bottom line? OSCA® is your straightforward single truth about even the most complex value chains.

Meet OSCA®, our smart product suite of cloud-based software solutions empowering highly efficient, optimized value chain management as well as stringent and compliant vendor management. OSCA® has been specifically designed for real-time online use. That way you have all the relevant information available, wherever and whenever you need it most.

Swift collaboration of all partners / parties on a single platform ensures maximum transparency along your entire supply chain. OSCA's modular configuration as well as the interconnectivity of individual product components provides you with the best setup to meet your needs. Plug-ins can be implemented instantly and hassle-free at any time.

It's our aim as the leading sports dealer in the world to have the perfect supply chain organization.

Kim Roether, Intersport

Synced processes, slashed time-to-market, and real-time data superiority are just some of the reasons for our growing client base. And it wouldn't be OSCA®, if it was difficult to integrate: Clients save up to 75% on time and internal resources needed to implement OSCA® into their value chain workflow as compared to other business process software.

If you think it's smart to get connective, let us know. We'd be happy to meet.
